ABOUT OUR PRO RANGE

The JumpsOnLine Pro Range has been designed and developed in consultation with top British Show Jumping Course Designer Steve Williams and a number of U.K. and European top level venues.

From the outset, the key objective was to create a range that used the obvious advantages of maintenance free polymer materials but with the strength, foot weight and appearance expected of a professional grand prix standard course.

Another key design requirement was to make it possible to interchange and add various design features to enable course builders to provide a variety of different challenges and obstacles. This also provides the ability to add or change the elements of a course over time without having to purchase an entire new course.

The Pro Range has evolved to meet all of the initial objectives. Some of the key features include:

-  Strong galvanised feet to give stability in our windy island conditions.
-  Strong but light weight polypropylene box section frames and infill boarding.
-  F.E.I. metal keyhole track on all wings as standard.
-  An ever expanding range of wing and filler designs including interchangeable panels and bespoke designs where possible.
-  An option to purchase a combination of weighted polypropylene poles and/or traditional high quality wooden poles for compliance with appropriate standards.

JumpsOnLine is now leading the way in creating a pro range that is fit for purpose. This brochure shows an overview of the current range. Please contact us for more information and for a quotation.
